Room Booking Policy

Policy ID: RM-BKG-001 | Effective: 10 October 2026 | Version 1.0

This document describes how customers reserve meeting rooms on the fictional Roomly platform. It applies to all demo accounts.

1. Operating hours

• Rooms may be booked daily between 08:00 and 22:00 Asia/Dhaka time. Reservations must fall entirely within operating hours.

• A booking must last at least one hour and at most six hours.

2. Reservation rules

• Bookings must be created at least 30 minutes before their start time and at most 30 days in advance.

• Only a successful confirmation from Roomly creates a reservation. Viewing an available time slot does not hold the room.

• A confirmed room cannot be reserved by another customer for an overlapping time interval.

• Bookings may not exceed the room capacity. Conference Room A has a capacity of 10 people; Meeting Room B has a capacity of 5; Workspace C has a capacity of 4.

3. Manage your booking

• Customers can see their reservations under My Bookings. Each account sees only its own booking history.

• Rescheduling is not supported in the demo. Customers must cancel an eligible booking and create a new reservation.

• The Roomly demo does not process real payments. Listed hourly rates are informational only.

Common customer questions

Q: Can I reserve a room for 30 minutes?

A: No. The minimum duration is one hour.

Q: Can I book 45 days ahead?

A: No. Reservations can be created up to 30 days before the start time.

Q: Can I change a confirmed reservation?

A: There is no reschedule action in the demo. Cancel it while cancellation is allowed and make a new booking.

Scope note: This policy is entirely fictional and supports a local educational demo. It does not establish a legal relationship, collect payments, or promise a real service. Contact: support@roomly.example (example-only address).